

God has called The JESUS Film Project®, as a steward of many generous gifts, to the highest standards of financial accountability. As a ministry, we answer not only to those who invest in the work, but also ultimately to God.

"I do not say this because I am seeking a gift. Rather, I seek the credit that abounds to your account."

(Philippians 4:17, New English Translation)

2015 Ministry Highlights

Presenting The Gospel

Reaching unreached people with the good news requires today's digital tools for greater effectiveness. Video projectors, tablets and handheld players proclaim the message of hope to people in open and closed countries. A reported 513 projectors or equipment sets, plus 285 tablets, resourced film workers in 65 countries including Angola, Lebanon and earthquake-stricken Nepal. And to help ensure the gospel goes to more remote peoples, 90 vehicles, motorbikes, UTVs and bicycles were delivered to film teams in 20 countries.

Faces of The Gospel

Serving in both urban and rural settings, film, church-planting and partner teams shared the gospel with men, women and children in 86 nations. More than 2,800 teams conducted evangelism campaigns, followed up with new believers, planted and mobilized churches, and provided training for pastors and laymen. Teams serve as a key catalyst to helping accelerate the spread of the good news in each country.

DURING A "JESUS" FILM SHOWING IN A mountainside village 25 miles north of Port-au-

Prince, Haiti, a young woman watched with intensity. The Holy Spirit opened the heart of this 19-year-old to accept the only true sacrifice that could give her eternal life. When JESUS Film® team members met with her the next day for follow-up, she confessed she had been preparing to become a Mambo, which is Haitian Creole for "voodoo priestess." But now, filled with the zeal of a sincere commitment to Christ, she burned all of the handmade idols in her home. Praise the Lord for this precious teenager's courage to go against tradition and become the first in her community to reject witchcraft and live for Jesus!

A LEADER RECENTLY SHARED: “While voluntarily distributing packets containing New Testaments and “JESUS” film DVDs in London, Skip was approached by a visiting Middle Eastern young man who shared his story. A couple of years ago, this young man’s grandfather had accepted one of these same packets while visiting London. After his grandfather returned home, he watched the film, began reading the Bible, and then gave his life to Christ. The young man then also came to Christ.”

Focusing On The Gospel

Reaching nonbelievers increasingly requires tools, partnership and unique strategies especially in restricted-access communities. Opportunities for the gospel to go to war refugees were made possible through humanitarian partnerships. Eighty-nine partnerships provided DVD outreaches to Arab and Persian communities in North America—63,605 total. This one division alone supplied more than 745,700* DVDs to partner organizations; its newest product is a 24-language Nepali DVD.

Short-term mission teams involved 339 people in direct evangelism in 25 countries, six of which were highly restricted. Through 34 mission trips, teams presented the gospel to 21,343 people with 3,014 recorded decisions for Christ. These teams also serve as key channels to deliver video and digital projections tools into closed countries.

Understanding The Gospel

Ensuring the gospel is in a language people can clearly understand is central to reaching them, thus the ministry completed 129 new dubbing projects in 2015. The classic film “JESUS” is now proclaiming the good news to 1,382 language groups. Derivative films for women and children now reach speakers of 143 languages and 159 languages respectively. Follow-up discipleship films in new languages—“Rivka” in Bengali (India), Kazakh, Kabyle, and Spanish (Latin American) completed in 2015—now empower outreach on six continents.

Delivering The Gospel

Reaching everyone with the good news requires leveraging the global reach of the Internet. Because it goes everywhere, in 2015 the web took the gospel on film to people in 227 countries. The ministry’s web platform, mobile app and seven partners saw people watch evangelistic film content online in 1,344 languages and 4.92 million clips were viewed by people worldwide. By late 2015, the mobile app and platform could be viewed in 17 major languages including Chinese, Arabic and Farsi (in Iran). Vital to global proclamation, DVDs, SD cards and thumb drives bring the saving message of the gospel to life for people. More than 823,400* video and digital content tools equipped evangelists, church planters and volunteers to reach people in their heart language. An outreach of 20,000 HD Blu-ray “JESUS” DVDs were delivered to French families in the weeks following the November Paris terrorist attacks.

IN APRIL, A LEADER, EVAN (name changed for security), was trained and given a video tablet, similar to an iPad®. Evan downloaded some film clips, including “Jesus calming the storm.” He began to engage small groups in conversation and show them the film clips. His focus has been particularly with people in refugee camps, as Evan and his family are also refugees due to the civil war. He reported that in six months, he has shown the film clips to more than 400 people. Of the 400+ people who have watched the film clips, more than 50 per cent prayed to receive Christ! To follow up all these new converts, Evan started discipleship groups, seven of which are still meeting regularly; the people are growing in their faith!

*DVD and digital products combined totaled more than 1.56 million worldwide.
