THE FOUR P'S OF ESTATE PLANNING: Guidelines For Completing The People Section

PEOPLE

The Confidential Estate Inventory is designed to assist you in gathering the necessary and pertinent data on your estate. It is divided into four sections, known as the Four P's of Estate Planning: People, Property, Plans and Planners.

Each section which pertains to your personal situation should be completed as thoroughly as possible, using the guidelines provided.

This is all information which you can gather in the privacy of your own home. By doing so, you conserve valuable time and may reduce the cost of professional counsel as you discuss implementation of your estate plan.

Guidelines For Completing The People Section

This section contains data on the PEOPLE of your estate plan; family members, other individuals, and charitable organizations who are a part of your estate distribution.

As you consider who these individuals are, we trust the following guidelines will be of interest and value.

Three Reasons Why People Give

The first reason to give is dependency. Who is dependent upon you for financial support (husband, wife, minor children, aged parents)? Those who would suffer financial loss at your death take first priority, according to state law as well as Scriptures.

"Anyone who does not provide for their relatives, and especially for their own household, has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever (1 Timothy 5:8)."

Note that it does not refer to prospering those individuals, nor does it necessarily speak to those who are no longer part of the household. But it strongly condemns the individual who does not care for his dependents.

The second reason to give is LOVE.

There are those for whom you wish to make provisions because of your love for them, though they may not be dependent upon you. This too is Scriptural. The basis of all giving is in the Scriptures: "For God so loved... that he gave..."

This is also a reason to list your charitable organizations. You love the people who are doing God's work here on earth, just as Jesus loved when He looked over Jerusalem and wept. You love the lost, dying and hurting world they are trying to reach.

The third reason why people give is TRADITION, and we contend that this is not a valid reason. Neither the Scriptures nor the laws of the states say you must divide your property equally among family members because of tradition.

If they do not qualify as dependents, or if you cannot give to them out of love, you may need to reconsider your interpretation of God's plan of stewardship for your estate.

As you are listing the PEOPLE of your estate, give complete information for all individuals: children from a former marriage, deceased children, adopted children, foster children and any other relationships that apply to your situation, including the extent of dependency.

THE FOUR P'S OF ESTATE PLANNING: Guidelines For Completing The Property Section

PROPERTY

It is now time to take a complete inventory of property included in your estate.

When you are making a listing of your property, it is important that you clearly convey to your planners how your property is held.

The five basic types of property ownership are:

1. Individual ownership
2. Tenants in common
3. Joint tenants with rights of survivorship
4. Tenants by the entirety
5. Community property

The success or failure of tax planning and the final distribution of your estate are often dependent upon the coordination of property ownership with legal instruments in effect.

Careful review is important.

It would not be practical to have appraisals made on all of your property at this time. However, it is important that you furnish your professional counsel with reasonable values.

Be realistic: do not overvalue, or be too conservative. Give special attention to collections, hobbies, jewelry, and antiques. If there is any question on valuation or ownership, provide your professional counsel with as much information as possible.

Using these guidelines, you are ready to take inventory of your estate.

THE FOUR P'S OF ESTATE PLANNING: Guidelines For Completing The Plans Section

PLANS

When we talk about plans in this section of the Confidential Estate Inventory, we are focused upon what you understand to be God’s plan of stewardship for the distribution of your estate.

Consider:

- 1) If death had occurred yesterday, how would you want your Property distributed to your People?

Mentally reduce the value of all your properties to cash, and assume you are giving away that much money today. You cannot wait until tomorrow. How much will you give to each of the individuals and organizations you have listed as the People of your estate plan?

The only valid estate plan is the one in effect when death occurs.

- 2) But death did not occur yesterday. We all expect a long life, and we know God will bless and prosper us.

What will change your plans in the future... dependents no longer in need of your support, an inheritance changing your estate value (and increasing taxes), death of a beneficiary, inflation of estate values, etc.

Your professional counsel needs complete information to design an estate plan which will carry out your goals and objectives, express what you understand to be God’s plan of stewardship for your estate, and be sufficiently flexible to accommodate future changes in your estate.

If you have an estate plan and are reviewing or revising that plan, it is important that you provide copies of existing wills, codicils, durable powers of attorney or trusts to your professional counsel.

If any reportable gifts have been made, provide complete details on these gifts. And if pre-nuptial agreements, or powers of appointment are in existence, copies of these should also be provided.

THE CHOICE OF A PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE

The personal representative will be responsible for carrying out the terms of your will at the time of death. There are several items to take into consideration as you choose this individual.

Availability

Many times individuals wish to appoint a personal representative who lives some distance from the estate. An individual of approximately the same age or an individual who is occupied in business, might not be available to handle the responsibilities of a personal representative. Be sure to consider a personal representative who will be available when needed.

Qualifications

Is the individual whom you are considering qualified for the job through experience, business management, etc.?

Interpersonal Conflicts

Many times, the individual appointed is a family member, or someone with a vested financial interest in the estate. The responsibilities as personal representative may place him or her in a position of potential conflict with other family members. The distribution of household goods and personal effects, sale of the family home, continuation of the family business or farm, all are decisions which may be better made by a third party, someone without a vested interest.

A good case can be made for the bank to serve as personal representative. They are bonded, they are available, they never move away or die. They do not have a vested financial interest in the estate, and they have experience in the probate process and management of estate assets.

If personal involvement in decisions is desired, a family member can serve with the bank, with powers limited to certain management decisions.

Remember, people are important.

Choose your personal representative carefully. You should also name an alternate representative, should you choose not to use a bank or trust company.

	Name	Address
Personal Representative	_____	_____ _____
Alternate Representative	_____	_____ _____

THE CHOICE OF A TRUSTEE

All that we have said concerning the choice of a personal representative can also be said about the choice of a trustee. The avoidance of interpersonal conflict, competence, and availability, all need to be taken into consideration.

Where a bank is chosen and you wish family representation, co-trusteeship is possible. But it's interesting to note that where the beneficiaries are given the power to either change trustees, or to veto the action of the trustee, this is usually sufficient control to represent and satisfy most estates.

	Name	Address
Trustee	_____	_____ _____
Alternate Trustee	_____	_____ _____

THE CHOICE TO HOLD POWERS OF ATTORNEY

The realities of life dictate that we must give consideration to who will be in a position to manage property and make health care decisions in case of mental or physical disability prior to death. Relying on family members or friends to act under court-appointed conservatorship may affect interpersonal relationships and cause unnecessary costs and restrictions. The alternative is to grant this power to an individual whom you trust to hold your personal care and well being as a priority. This power does not give the named individual the ability to declare your incompetency.

However, it does grant specific authority to that individual to act on your behalf once disability has been determined.

Power for Property	<hr/>	<hr/>
Alternate	<hr/>	<hr/>
Health Care Power	<hr/>	<hr/>

THE CHOICE OF GUARDIAN FOR MINOR CHILDREN

One of the most important reasons for a young family to have an estate plan is to name a guardian for minor children. It's impossible to replace parents, but if death occurs, someone must fill that place.

You can select someone whose lifestyle is compatible to yours, who will care for your children in the kind of family surroundings which you desire, or that person will be selected by the probate court. It is your choice.

If you have not already selected that individual, it will be one of the most difficult decisions you will make in the estate planning process.

When you have made your choice and are comfortable with these individuals, you should discuss with them their willingness to serve.

The nomination of an alternate guardian is also important, should the individual you have chosen be unable or unwilling to serve when called upon.

For some helpful guidelines in making this choice, please reach out to your Cru Foundation Gift & Estate Design Specialist.

THE FOUR P’S OF ESTATE PLANNING: Guidelines For Completing The Planners Section

PLANNERS

Estate planning is not a “do-it-yourself” project. Competent counsel, with expertise in state law, tax planning, and estate draftsmanship, is extremely important.

If you have legal counsel who is competent in the field of estate planning, you are fortunate. Your legal counsel will be the key to your estate planning team.

Other members of the team will be your accountant, life underwriter, investment adviser, and bank trust officer.

If you do not have competent legal counsel, another member of the estate planning team may be able to direct you to an individual who is experienced in this specialized field.

Most communities also have a lawyer referral service, which can refer you to two or three attorneys who are competent in this field.
